

Pulitzer Prize Winning Author Visits Spanish Fort Post Office

Harper Lee, author of the Pulitzer Prize winning novel, "To Kill A Mocking Bird", chats with Harmon Hanson while admiring his newly opened post office at Spanish Fort. Miss Lee is a frequent visitor to this area and was delighted with the addition of this facility. Residents too, are signing the praises of this office — Christmas mails will be handled with greater speed. Many have rented post office boxes, finding it is convenient to receive mails from early morning until night.

—Staff Photo